U.S. Office of foreign agricultural relations.

Since 1882, some unit in the Department of agriculture has been engaged in the study of foreign agricultural relations, but it was not until 1882 that the first foreign agricultural agent was appointed to represent the Department. In the early 1920's foreign representation was placed on a permanent, though restricted basis. A more effective service was made possible in 1939 by the establishment of a Division of foreign agricultural service in the Bureau of agricultural economics. (Public no. 804, 71st Cong.) In December 1968, as a part of the general reor-

Organization of the Department. It was transferred to Office of the secretary (Secretary's memorandum to chiefs ... Nov. 30, 1938).
On July 1, 1939, in accordance with the President's Reorganization plan no. 2, the permanent foreign office staffs were transferred to the Department of state. The Office of foreign agricultural relations was established in the Department of agriculture, its staff consisting of the Washington staff of the former Foreign agricultural service and the commodity specialists. of Report, 1940, p. 7-8.

Name changed, effective Mar. 10, 1963, to U.S. Foreign Agricultural Service, in accord-
